

URGES EXPOSITION ON NATIONAL PARKS

Exhibit in Connection With National Museum Proposed by George Shiras, 3d.

An exposition of the national parks, in connection with the National Museum, was proposed for the District by George Shiras, 3d., at the annual meeting of the National Parks Association, at the Cosmos Club, yesterday afternoon.

The proposal for a permanent exposition here of the great national parks, which would include many habitat groups of the animals of the parks, was endorsed by the meeting, and will be further considered by the executive committee of the association.

No Extensive Exhibit Here.
Mr. Shiras, who discovered the moose of Yellowstone Park, pointed out that at present the National Capitol has no permanent and extensive exhibit of the beauties, fauna and flora of the national parks. In connection with the National Museum, he said, an exhibit might be established which would be an addition to the city as well as an incentive to the hundreds who come here each year to visit the parks.

The executive committee of the National Parks Association is headed by Charles D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, and includes Henry B. F. Macfarland, president of the association; Robert Sterling Ward, executive secretary; Leila Meehlin, secretary of the American Federation of Arts; and Edmund Seymour, president of the American Bison Society.

Outlines Commercialism Peril.
The greater part of the meeting was given over to the report for the past year of Secretary Ward, who outlined at length the peril which confronted the national parks of the country last year through the menace of the attacks of commercialism.

Mr. Ward told of the fight waged by the National Parks Association against various bills introduced into Congress in the interest of water power companies last year, and spoke of the efforts of the association to preserve the parks from the attacks of commercialism. The daughters of the American Revolution and other large national societies had aided the association in its fight, he said.

Membership of 1,200.
The National Parks Association has a membership of 1,200 persons, a large increase over last year, Mr. Ward reported. He stressed future conservation opportunities akin to the main objective of the association. The association is essential for the future of the parks from the attacks of commercialism, which, he said, "if it had its way, would break them down."

The report of Charles J. Bell, treasurer, showed the finances of the association to be in satisfactory condition. The budget for the ensuing year was approved.
Dr. George F. Bowerman, librarian of the Public Library, made suggestions for interesting the librarians of the country in the work the association is doing.

Letter to Mr. Lane's Family.
The secretary was instructed to send a letter of condolence on behalf of the association to the family of the late Franklin K. Lane, who as Secretary of the Interior, took a great interest in the national parks. A. G. Batchelder of the American Automobile Association, a member of the advisory committee, advocated connecting up the various national parks by a system of highways. This series of interstate roads, he said, would make the parks easy of access to thousands more of people each year.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was preceded by a visit of the members of the association to the White House, where they were received by President Harding, who expressed great interest in the purposes of the organization.

Following the reception the members were entertained by President Macfarland at an open air dinner in the yard of the Cosmos Club.

It was decided at the meeting to prepare a memorial to be sent to President Harding, explaining more in detail the objectives and past work of the association.

Park Bench Spooling Approved By Police As Summer Pastime

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 20.—Love making in Kansas City parks was officially recognized as a legitimate summer sport in an announcement today by the Police Department. This policy of the police department will be to let love alone, the chief said.

"Police officers," he said, "have something more to do than to clear park benches of boys and girls making love."

DECLARES MARTIAL LAW IN RIOT ZONE

West Virginia Governor Signs Proclamation Covering Mingo County.

By the Associated Press.
CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 20.—Gov. Morgan today issued a proclamation declaring martial law in Mingo county.

In a proclamation signed May 17 by C. F. Kenney, president, and other officers of the United Mine Workers of America, District 12, all non-union miners in Mingo county, West Virginia and Pike county, Kentucky, are called upon to strike in a promise of union benefits while they are idle. The proclamation was made public here today.

"Large bodies of armed men," Gov. Morgan said in his proclamation, "have assembled in the mountains of Mingo county and fired into and shot public and other buildings and fired into passenger trains while passing over the Norfolk and Western railroad. Many lives have been lost and much property destroyed as a result, and riot and bloodshed is still rampant and pending."

CITIZENS TAKE RIFLES.
Will Help Preserve Order in Tug River Valley.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 20.—Determination of the Mingo county authorities to preserve order in the upper Tug river valley took tangible form today, when several hundred rifles were received by Capt. Brockus, commanding the state police in this region. They were taken to the courthouse, where business and professional men who yesterday took the oath as special state policemen, were waiting to receive them. The novelty of leading citizens leaving the courthouse with rifles on their shoulders and pistols strapped to their hips caused more than passing comment.

Major I. E. Wilder, commanding the Kentucky National Guardmen, who are patrolling the west side of the river, has established headquarters in Williamson, although he pointed out, they were maintained on the Kentucky side of the river and their activities confined strictly to that state.

Many idle miners visited Williamson today to receive their weekly relief checks from the office of the United Mine Workers.

STUDENTS DROP COURSES
Only 35 Per Cent Remain at Howard University.

Of the great number of students who enter Howard University only about 35 per cent remain throughout their courses and graduate, according to J. Garland Wood, an undergraduate of the university, in an address today before the student body. He is a representative of the second annual "go to high school—go to college" movement, a nation-wide educational campaign conducted by the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

"The class of 1920 entered with an enrollment of 218 and graduated with only 69," said Mr. Wood. "The class of 1921 entered with 239 and only 88 remain, and the class of 1922 entered with a record enrollment of 325 and now has barely 100." He made a forceful appeal to the students to continue their courses.

ASKS SQUARE DEAL IN COAL FOR PUBLIC

Former Gov. Cornwell of West Virginia Addresses Association.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 20.—Former Gov. John J. Cornwell of West Virginia advised the National Coal Association today to see that the public gets a square deal at all times in the purchase of coal. He urged the coal organization to compel the "outlaw operators, who gouge the public, to play the game on the square."

He told the coal men that they cannot expect public support and cooperation if some coal operators or dealers gouge the public every time they had an opportunity. He warned them of the danger of government control or nationalization of mines and told them that what happened to the railroads may happen to the coal business if it does not meet the requirements of the public.

Mr. Cornwell first pointed out the necessity of educating the public to spread its coal purchases over the whole year so as to produce an even demand for that fuel.

"If the people can get coal, get it when they want it and get it at fairly decent prices, whatever politicians may say or want, the people will not want the government to take over your business, to manage it or hand-cap it in any way," said Mr. Cornwell.

Decision Up to Them.
"It is partly up to you gentlemen to decide whether there will eventually be government control of the industry. It is up to you to bring about the co-operation of the government and the public rather than to invite the public to take a square deal, not only from the producers of coal, but from the dealers and agents who handle it."

Mr. Cornwell told the coal men that if the railroads had been square and reasonable in their early history they would not have been "regulated to death."

"I think the history of the railroad control and railroad legislation may furnish a counterpart of what may happen in the coal business," he continued. "If the operators furnish the coal, and furnish it when demanded, at reasonable prices, there will be no government regulation otherwise it will come, whether wise or not. Hence the importance of getting the demand spread over a sufficient length of time each year for the operators to produce it and the railroads to transport it."

JURY HOLDS AUTO DRIVER.
B. V. Brown to Face Grand Jury in Mulcahy Death.

An inquest was held at the morgue yesterday afternoon in the case of P. Frank Mulcahy, forty-nine years old, inspector in the District water department, who was killed at Florida avenue and Q street Wednesday morning as a result of a collision between his bicycle and the automobile of Bernice Victor Brown, 1317 H street northeast.

The autopsy showed that death was caused by a fracture of the skull, crushed chest and shock. Several witnesses were heard, and the jury reported a verdict holding Brown for the action of the grand jury. Funeral services for Mr. Mulcahy were held in St. Joseph's Church this morning. Interment was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Mrs. Kate Spill, 1203 E street northeast, fell from a moving street car at 7th and F streets yesterday afternoon and received injuries to her body. She was taken home.

His dead body was found shortly after noon yesterday. Coroner Nevitt examined the room and found the despondent man had pasted paper about the door to prevent the gas from escaping from the room. A letter written by the man told of his troubles and made it clear that he had not contemplated suicide because of financial troubles.

Dr. Wasson called in Solicitor General Boykin, a member of his congregation, who posted deputies in the garage, which the preacher had rented out to two young men. In 1896 she was made chairman of the joint commission committee which perfected the plans for the union of the international board of the Women's and Young Women's Christian Association and became first president of the combined national board. She also was prominently connected with many other philanthropic organizations.

SUSPECT IN BOMB BLAST IDENTIFIED

Federal Warrant Served on Man Charged With Driving Wagon.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 20.—Giuseppe de Filippo, who, Department of Justice officials stated, was identified yesterday by five persons as the man who drove the explosive-laden wagon which caused the Wall Street disaster last September 16, was slated for arraignment before United States Commissioner Emery in Newark today.

A warrant of removal will be requested, so that the prisoner may be brought immediately to New York. Department of Justice agents today charged him with conspiracy in the destruction of government property. This charge, based on the United States criminal code, was preferred because of the fact that the assay office in Wall Street was damaged by the explosion. Filippo, who was arrested after being under surveillance for two months, was held in solitary confinement in the Bayonne, N. J., jail last night on a technical charge of suspicion.

Department of Justice agents before Filippo yesterday were positive, government agents said, in their identification of the man who saw up to the time of his arrest. They were reported to have been reasonably sure he was the man they saw a few minutes after the explosion.

SEEN IN "TWELFTH NIGHT"
Students of Western High School Give Shakespearean Play.

Students of Western High School gave their initial performance of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" before a large audience last night in the auditorium of the institution. The play will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night. The proceeds will be turned over to the athletic association.

Ruth Pearson, in the character of Olivia, and Lady Mary, as Viola, gave excellent interpretations of the parts. Crepps Beckham showed remarkable ability in the role of Malvolio and Berkeley Jones did well as Sebastian. Others in the cast who handled their parts well were Quentin Watson, as the Duke, and Carl Woerner, in a double role, as Antonio and the Sea Captain.

The play was enticed at frequent intervals by the play scenes acted by Sir Toby, Sir Andrew Agcheek, Fabian and Maria. These parts were taken by Robert Lamb, Robert Armstrong, Otis Turner and Margaret Bain. Orme Libbey, in the role of the clown, added much amusement.

Music for the play was furnished by the school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Bryant.
